Your Community, Your Chorale

Thanks to your support, the Lexington Chamber Chorale has presented more than 100 concerts and performed more than 500 pieces! Lexington Chamber Chorale concerts cover many styles and traditions of music — including works by Kentucky composers and authors.

Our season theme is "How Can I Keep From Singing." Concert information, including concert details, is given on the following pages. We love to sing and we believe in the power of singing.

Welcome to our 2025-2026 season!

Below is a picture of a recent concert at Ashland: The Henry Clay Estate, where we will sing again at the conclusion of this season.

This concert was funded by Neighborhood Development Funds from the Lexington-Fayette Urban County Government.

Let's Celebrate Our 35 Years

Second Presbyterian Church
Sunday, October 12 2025, 5pm

Favorite repertoire of our singers, music from past residencies with guest artists, commissioned works, as well as premiering a new commissioned work, combine for a reflective celebration of our 35 years.

Sounds of the Season

Second Presbyterian Church
Sunday, November 30, 2025, 5pm

Welcome the holiday season with us as we perform new and familiar tunes celebrating Christmas and Hanukkah. Featuring an audience sing-along, this is the perfect concert to get your entire family in the holiday spirit.

35 Years in Harmony

Second Presbyterian Church
Sunday, March 8, 2026, 5pm

Collaborative music making with a diverse group of nearly 100 singers who performed for more than 35 years as a choir creates harmonious relationships and beautiful music. In his last year as artistic director, Gary L. Anderson programs favorite selections from the past and music to be performed for the first time.

The Heart of Kentucky: A Musical Tribute

Ashland: The Henry Clay Estate
Sunday, June 7, 2026, 5pm

We celebrate Kentucky's rich music tradition with songs of Appalachia, Shaker tunes, and Shape Note Hymns. In addition, a preview of our 2026-2027 season repertoire will be performed.

This is a free concert.
