LEX ARTS Helping art come to life

Dear friends,

We hope you find this third edition of Arts Everywhere for Students useful and inspiring for your teaching. This small book can connect the expertise of nonprofit arts professionals in Central Kentucky to your curriculum, your students, and your own imagination.

All of us who put it together hope to hear from you—your suggestions as well as your successes. Please send us an email at info@lexarts.org to let us know what you and your students most enjoyed and what else you'd like to see in this resource.

Thank you for supporting the creative ventures that pack the days of Lexington residents and our visitors. We are grateful to be busy because of, and for, you.

Wishing you an artful year,

Nan Plummer

All You Can Ever Know: An Evening with Nicole Chung

PERFORMANCE

After School not at School, 6-12th

As a child Nicole Chung wanted to believe the story she was told about her biological family—they loved her and had given her up for adoption only out of necessity. "This may be all you can ever know," her mother told her. The decree did not ease the dislocation Chung felt, which lead to a quest to learn more. Chung's memoir, All You Can Ever Know, was a National Book Critics Circle Award finalist, and as the Kentucky Women Writers Conference keynote, she'll discuss her path to publication and the importance of reading underrepresented narratives.

"You can't know where you're goin' if you don't know where you been… sabes?" History is something Alex doesn't get. There's no use trying to teach him about where he comes from because he doesn't care. Caring is hard and makes him think about losing his parents. Try as she might, not even his abuela Marta can help him understand the beauty and magic of Día de los Muertos. But with a little thunder and a lot of magic, a fast-talking skeleton might just give Alex the courage and compassion he needs to connect.

Long Road to Freedom

PERFORMANCE
During School Day Field Trip, 6th-8th

We put a quilt on the gate, and a candle in the window. Then we wait and hope and pray that the light finds those who need it most. Graceanna and Mary Catherine were brought together by the Underground Railroad. As their friendship stands the test of time, so does Graceanna's determination to be reunited with her family. Together these girls turned women will need all of the courage they can muster to keep working, hoping, and paving the path to freedom.

Dr. Seuss's The Cat in the Hat

PERFORMANCE
During School Day Field Trip, K-5th

The day of our story was a cold cold wet day, so Sally and her brother could not go out to play. After sitting, and sitting, and sitting some more, they couldn't have imagined who would walk through that door! The Cat in the Hat was a sight to see, with his magic and games, he brought the children such glee. Until Thing One and Thing Two's tricks went very amiss, and the Fish knew their mother would definitely not like this! Will the children be able to stop the hullabaloo?

The Hundred Dresses

PERFORMANCE
During School Day Field Trip, K-5th, 6th-8th

"How many dresses?"
"A hundred dresses."
Wanda Petronski has a funny name and wears the same blue dress to school every day, but when her classmates tease and bully her, she claims to have a closet full of one hundred dresses at home. Maddie Reeves doesn't have much more than one dress herself – but goes along with the game, even though she knows it's cruel. How do you find the bravery to stand up for what is right – even if it means you are standing alone?

Ella Enchanted: The Musical

PERFORMANCE
During School Day Field Trip, K-12th

We all feel like we have to do things we don't want to, but Ella really doesn't have a choice when the fairy Lucinda gives her the "gift of Obedience." Ella has to do anything anyone tells her to do - even telling her best friend Prince Char to go away forever. But Ella isn't content to let things stay that way and sets out to find Lucinda and convince the fairy to break her spell. Based on the Newbery Honor Book by Gail Carson Levine, this story is a celebration of friendship, the magic of language, and the power we all have to change our destinies.

EMPATHY IN ACTION: Anti-Bullying Program

WORKSHOP

During School Day at School, K-5th

In a week-long residency students explore the definition of "Community" and examine their role in creating an environment where differences are respected and celebrated. Together with LCT teaching artists, the program teaches the vocabulary to recognize and name various types of intolerance, both verbal and non-verbal, that they encounter in the school community. Students discuss and act out scenarios to practice becoming a "rescuer" rather than a "bystander." Through drama activities, students practice strategies overcome intolerant behavior at school, and to build an inclusive and welcoming community.

AVAILABLE UPON REQUEST

COST $1,000 for a weeklong residency with 8 classrooms

When art is everywhere, life's more lively and way more fun.

Every year, LexArts helps dozens of artists and arts organizations push the boundaries and raise the bar in music, dance, theater, visual and literary arts. Events like our popular LexArts Hop and Public Art projects get people on their feet and out in the streets to connect with and celebrate the arts — and the vibrant, colorful world that's out there.

When art is out there working its magic, lives are enriched and entire communities rise and shine. Arts everywhere 24/7/365 all around town.
